

The Holy Trinity
Fr. Cornelius Lapide (†1637)

God gives to the just man not only his grace, but also himself, so that God the Father, Son, and Holy Spirit really dwell within the soul of the just, as in their Temple, and adorn it with their presence, and shower it with their gifts, as I demonstrated at length (in Hosea) on the words, It shall be said to them: you are the sons of the living God.

The Holy Trinity comes to the three faculties of the soul, which he created after his own image, that he may dwell within them, renewing in them his image, which has been disfigured by concupiscence. To the Father is appropriated memory, because he from fruitful memory conceiving all things, produced the Word, and begat the Son. To the Son is appropriated the intellect, because by understanding he was begotten, as it were the word of the mind, the idea, image, and pattern of all things. To the Holy Spirit is appropriated the will, because he himself proceeds by the action of the will, i.e., the love of the Father and the Son, as it were the love and bond of union of both.

The Father therefore reforms the memory when he blots out of it the appearances of vain, foul, and forbidden things, and brings into it the appearances of divine things, so that it should remember only God, his worship and his love, piety and the other virtues. The Son reforms the intellect, so that it should think only of the things which pertain to salvation and holiness. The Holy Spirit reforms the will, so that it should love and desire the same. Therefore a holy soul continually reflects that it is a temple of the Holy Trinity.
