

St. John Vianney and Corpus Christi

It is fitting that the immortal soul should have one good meal a week

The third commandment is most important. You shalt keep the Sundays by devoutly serving God. The week is for things material, Sunday is for the spirit.

The body, made of clay, rots and falls to ruin; the soul, the image of God, is imperishable, and it is this that sustains the body. It is, then, to this that we owe most care, and yet we habitually neglect the soul that we may take care of our body.

Behold, all the week men gather, lend, buy, sell. Well and good; but all that is for the body. Arrange, then, to make a good feast once a week for your immortal soul.

O sweet banquet, heavenly bread! What a privilege to be able to feed our souls, and to feed them on God!"

Effects of this banquet on soul and body

One meets with good Christians who forget their bodies; that is surely better than being like bad Christians who forget their souls, like people of the world who think only of material things. There they are, filling themselves with the most abundant and delicate food, and what is the result? When all is said and done, a corpse carried to the cemetery.

For us Christians the fruit of our spiritual food is the salvation of our soul, heaven, our body itself transfigured.

Do you understand? To ascend to heaven! To be filled with God! Man is so great, so great, that he reaches as high as the shoulder of God.

See how great is the fruitfulness of this good meal. The Holy Communion fed St. Simon's body and soul together; and his soul, flooded with the joy of loving God, sustained his body."

YOU and every individual Catholic play a role! It is literally a matter of life or death for everyone in your life, and... it's not as hard as you think!
